TOP TIP FOR PAIRING BEER WITH FOOD

As with wine, your choice of beer to accompany food should be guided by your personal preferences. Let your palate be your guide. For those who are more traditional, red meats go with darker beers like ale or stout and white meats or fish go with lighter beers like lager or wheat beer (see back cover for full guide). Go on enjoy yourselves!

- Chimay Blue Size: 33.0cl ABV: 9.0% Price: £5.00□
One of the best beers in the world, this deep, rich ale has a powerful nose of dried fruit and hints of spice, a complex rounded palate, and a long evolving finish with hints of port and dark berry fruit.
- Chimay Red Size: 33.0cl ABV: 7.0% Price: £4.50□
Chimay's 'standard' house ale, but don't be fooled, this is far from ordinary. A wonderful coppery ale, with hints of redcurrant fruit and a soft malty palate, and hints of hop dryness in the finish.
- Delirium Nocturnum Size: 33.0cl ABV: 8.0% Price: £4.70□
A strong dark ale, fruity, malty with a gentle sweetness and a simple finish.
- Duvel Size: 33.0cl ABV: 8.5% Price: £4.60□
The King of Beers. Strong golden ale, traditionally poured with a big rocky head. Lots of complex aromas (malt, pear drops, peppery hops) and a clean, well-structured finish.
- Grimbergen Blonde Size: 33.0cl ABV: 7.0% Price: £3.95□
Fairly light abbey beer, softly malty on the palate, with a hint of hops in the fairly tart finish.
- Grimbergen Bruno Size: 33.0cl ABV: 10.0% Price: £5.50□
